LISBON 2024

By Metro: Lisboa has a metro station. However, travelling by metro to the venue takes more time and more stopovers than travelling by bus and train. The Lisbon metro network has four lines: Yellow, Blue, Green and Red. When coming from the airport or from Gare do Oriente, it's best to take the red line and stop at the last station - São Sebastião. After getting off at São Sebastião, you can take bus 756 at Av. Berna or Praça de Espanha to get to the venue.

Ticketing: If you want to use the Lisbon train network, regular urban train tickets cost only 2,20€. The first time you buy a ticket, you will have to buy a re-loadable Viva Viagem card for 0,50€ which you can use throughout the public transport network of Lisbon during your stay. Train tickets can be purchased from the ticket counters and automated ticket machines of the train station. More information on prizes can be found in the screenshot below:

Other means of transport

Bike: Lisbon has a public bicycle sharing system. The Green Gira bikes can be hired at docking station terminals using the Gira app. You can rent the bikes via a day pass that costs €10 for a 24-hour period, and includes 45-minute journeys on both conventional and electric bikes. This means that you can take as many 45-minute rides as you want while your pass is active. However, if you keep a bike out more than 45 minutes, you'll be charged €2 for each additional 45 minutes. Between two consecutive rides, you have to wait 15 minutes before you can release a new bike. More information on the bicycle sharing system, including a map of all docking stations can be found here (in Portuguese): <https://www.gira-bicicletasdelisboa.pt/>

Taxi: The basic Lisbon taxi fare is 0,47 Euro per Km, with a minimum fare of 3,25 Euro. Additionally you pay 1,60 Euro for luggage and 0,80 Euro if your hotel phones a taxi. Taxis with more than four seats are more expensive. The main companies are Radio Taxis and Coop Taxis.
